Testimonials

Developmental Editing

During a developmental edit, I address content, structure, and flow. I make recommendations regarding adding, moving, and removing content so the message is clear and written to the author's ideal and intended audience so the book's value is apparent and actionable.

When I do developmental editing as part of this substantive editing package (developmental editing and writing), I provide clients with several versions of the document. One is their original format with my comments. In the other version, I apply the structural changes I've recommended. After a review, this allows us to discuss the changes and apply those the author chooses.

Once we finalize structure, we move on to the writing and substantive editing phase of the project.

-Author Questionnaire & Citation Sheet*

-developmental editing report (9-point checklist and custom methodology) and style guide

-up to 10 citations/references formatted and included in the manuscript in the body, notes (if/when appropriate), and bibliography (each additional $9.78)*

-6 custom videos depending on your needs (two of your choice)

*Based on the citation/references list the author submits with the manuscript (see below).
